

Teachers College, Columbia University

Swallowing therapy for individuals with Huntington's Disease

Do you have difficulty swallowing because of HD?
Through this research, you could receive innovative swallowing therapy in your home.

Many people with HD develop difficulty swallowing. These issues can result in negative health outcomes and decreased quality of life.

The Upper Airway Dysfunction Lab at Teachers College, Columbia University are looking for individuals with HD to participate in a research study that will investigate the effects of a novel therapy option for individuals with HD.

This therapy uses sensors to measure and display swallowing muscle activity. We will ask you to swallow at the right time and strength to hit a target.

This study will consist of two weeks of therapy with five one-hour therapy sessions per week as well as four, half hour assessment sessions spread over six weeks.

You will receive a $75 gift card for your participation.

For more information, please contact Paige Thomas

Phone number: 212-678-3072

Email: pat2151@tc.columbia.edu

Teachers College IRB #18-009